

Australian Bird Study Association Conference 2017

Long-term banding studies for monitoring bushland birds: what we've learned and future directions.

Saturday 11 March 2017

9:00 am - 4:30 pm (Registration from 8:30am)

Australian National University , Canberra, ACT.

Research School of Biology, Gould Building.

Number 116 Daley Road, Acton. Parking and access off Daley Road.

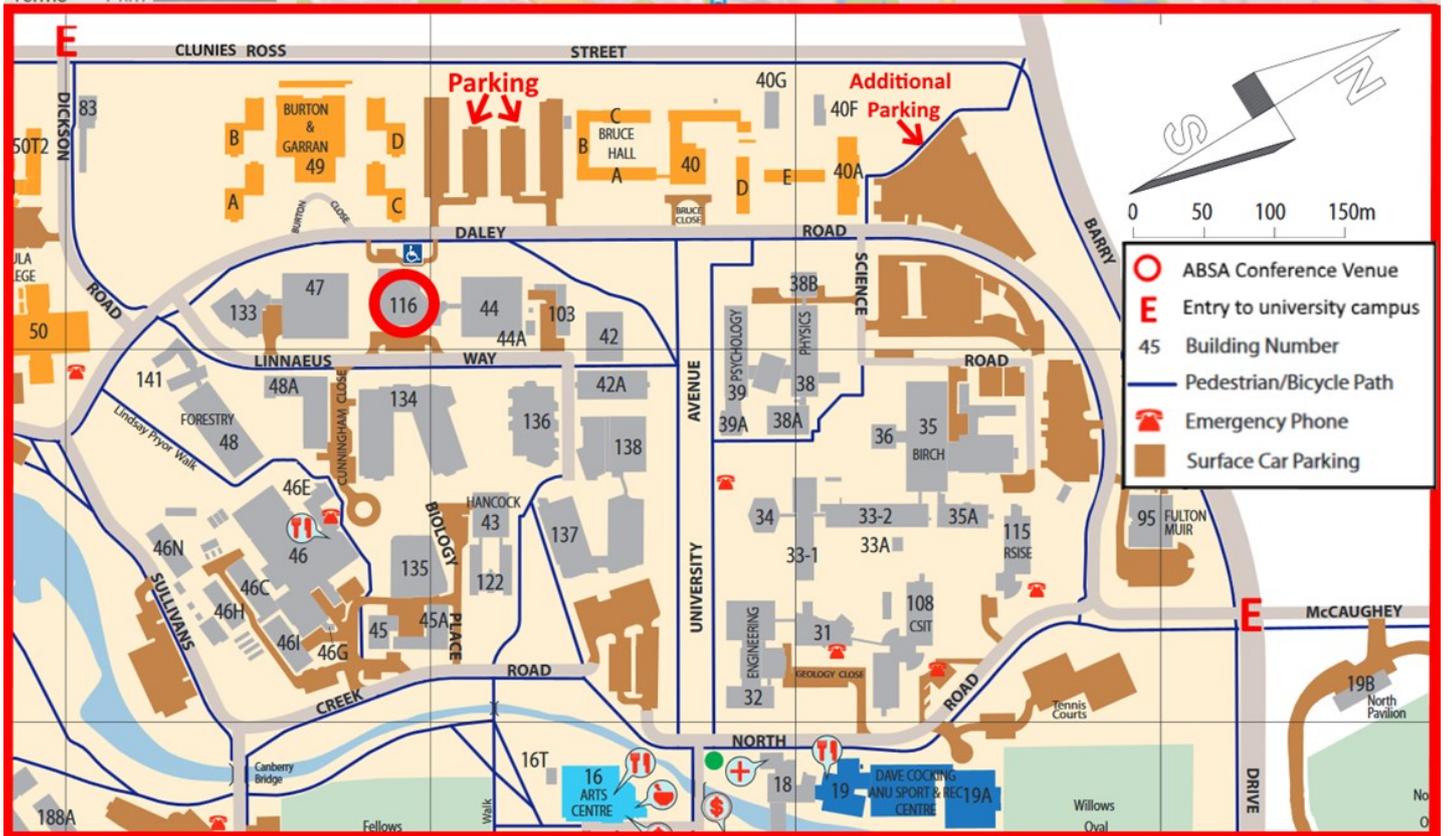

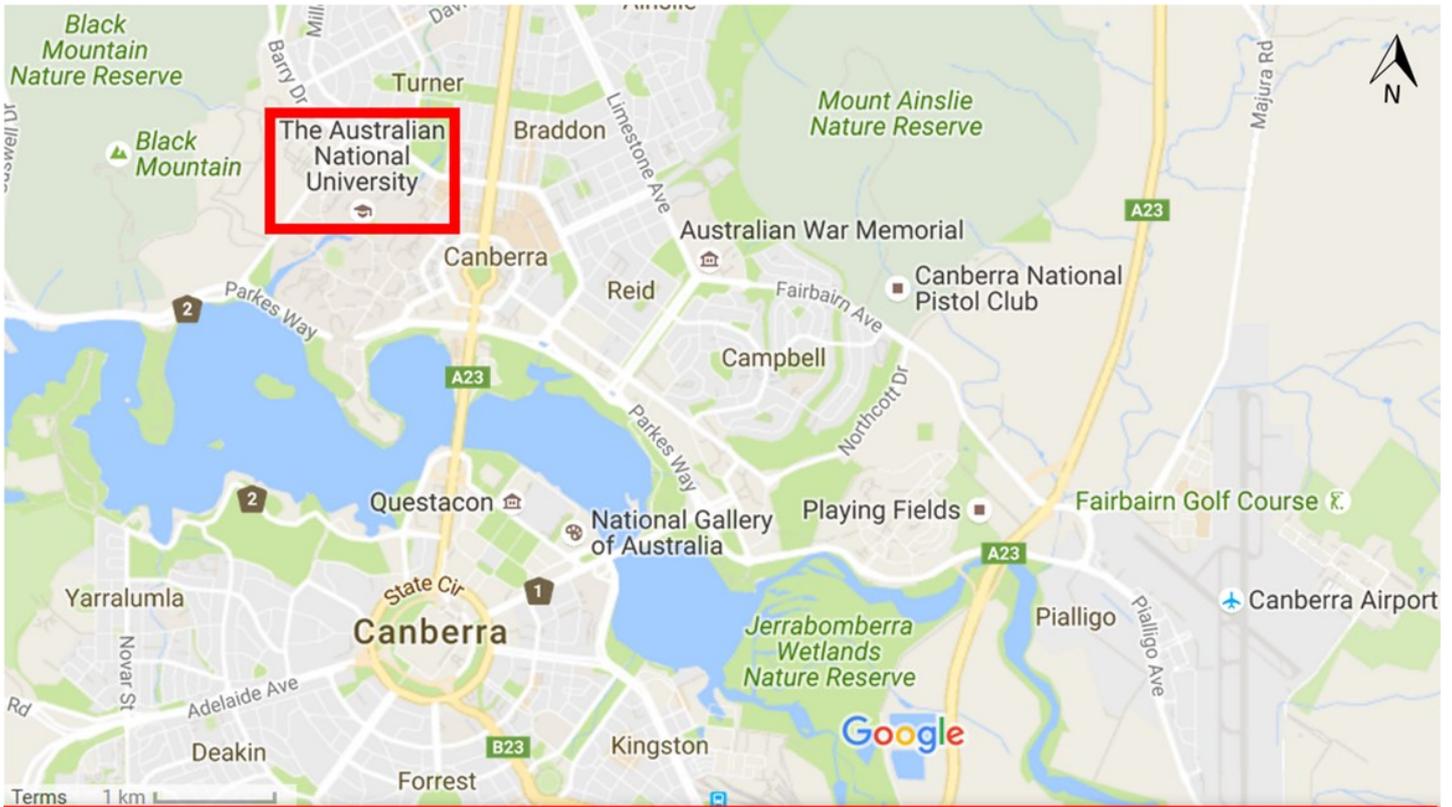

(see map overleaf)

Registration is $60, Students $45.00 (lunch included)

We'll have a great line up of speakers, who will review their results from a selection of long-term banding projects and discuss the insights they've obtained from them, as well as talks on data collection, handling and analysis. Following this will be a forum discussion looking at how we can build on this foundation and make sure that we will continue to have a sustainable and scientifically sound program of long-term banding studies. This will help us answer the many questions we still have about the lives of our bushland birds and provide some of the knowledge we will need to help secure their future.

So if you're interested in what is happening to our bushland birds; and also if you're interested in the future of bird banding; and especially if you'd like to learn more about getting involved in bird banding, please come along and join the discussion. For more information or to register visit www.absa.asn.au, contact info@absa.asn, or find us on facebook or twitter @ABSAbirds. Morning and afternoon tea as well as lunch are included. Payment must be made prior to the Conference for catering purposes (see accompanying form).

The Australian National University is located close to Canberra city centre in Acton. The conference will be held at the Research School of Biology in the Gould Building (Number 116 Daley Road, Acton) with parking and access off Daley Road. Although there are no parking fees on weekends please pay attention to parking signs and be aware not to park spaces reserved for halls of residence.

The closest accommodation is at University House but there are plenty of options in near by Civic and Braddon.
